FRANKENSTEIN FILMS/Multicultural Videos for Teens & Families

Provider of videos to schools, public health programs, colleges & universities, the counseling profession.

Ellen Frankenstein has parlayed her anthropological accomplishments into a series of 30-60 minute videos purchased or rented by various social, educational, public health and counseling institutions.

Addressed to the concerns of teenagers and indigenous communities who share the struggle to adapt to new social conditions, these dramatic films have found great popularity with professionals who help people solve these kinds of problems.

Film titles include: No Loitering (about youth community), Carved from the Heart (about overcoming the effects of drugs and alcohol), Miles from the Border (changes for Hispanics), and A Matter of Respect (the meaning of tradition and change). Her films have found a wide following. This list is offered for the first time.
